

Diagnosis of Case of West Nile Virus Virus

Authors: Brett Brown Jose Taylor Cheryl Bruce Kendra Avery Rhonda Shelton

Published Date: 12-30-2019

University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff

School of Exercise and Sport Science

Texas

Human-virus transmission has been confirmed.

The medical community has concluded that a late-stage AIDS patient infected by a laboratory worker with SARS should receive prophylactic AIDS therapy while the virus is under medical surveillance. [SARS: Rare Case of Outbreak within a Laboratory Network is Myths. They Are Ugly.]

Virginia

Public health officials say Ebola virus was found in Maryland after a small number of the insect-borne virus-producing wasps were found in central and eastern Virginia, Aljazeera English reports. [Is Ebola Still a Threat?]

Philadelphia

Multiple individual cases of croup have been found in Pennsylvania and are being treated, according to the CDC.

New York

Five people have been placed under quarantine after complaining of gastrointestinal symptoms, the New York Times reports.

Nashville

Two dogs that were found dead at the spot where bodies of 11 people were left in the area last week have tested positive for E. coli, The Tennessean reports.

San Diego

Three people have tested positive for Hepatitis C after they were exposed to the disease, The San Diego Union-Tribune reports.

Washington

San Diego

Two people have died and a third is hospitalized with Hepatitis C virus, according to The San Diego Union-Tribune.

Washington D.C.

Two lab workers and one resident have tested positive for HIV, which the Centers for Disease Control calls the human virus in this sample, according to the WebMD.org.

A Red And White Fire Hydrant In A Field